

Comments from your Chief Investment Officer

2020 is now behind us – So long, farewell, Auf Wiedersehen, goodbye.

Looking into the new year, we suspect the first half will be dominated by further lockdowns and COVID related issues while in the second half focus will, perhaps, turn to the issue of paying the bill for lockdown. Most of the debt will be monetised, which we expect will be supportive of the equity markets (see our previous article Public Deficits, Private Profits). We will however be watching for signs of governments leaning toward either austerity or higher taxation, both of which have the potential to trigger a prolonged economic contraction.

We have made a few minor adjustments to your portfolio in December, trimming some of the larger positions to maintain diversification. Overall, the Fund is going into 2021 with a similar structure to where it started 2020. We remain heavily tilted toward US technology companies, although we have increased exposure to Asian technology companies during the year. Innovation remains robust, supported by both new technologies and changing working practices. We are expecting these trends to continue through 2021. The team here at Equitile wish all our investors and readers a very happy and prosperous new year. Doubtless 2021 will be another interesting one!
